About Time Outdoors

Learn more about the Time Outdoors: memberships, netiquette, and a variety of other information

Cross Posting Events

First of all we ask the question, "What is Cross Posting?"

To cross post an event is to publish an event that is already listed or published on other related websites.

The answer to this question, "Yes!"

The Time Outdoors will allow the cross posting of events, but not without some restrictions.

Events may be cross posted on the Time Outdoors if:

- The event is an outdoors type of activity
- The event is free to attend
- The event "Does Not" require a paid site membership to attend the free event

Can events published on the Time Outdoors be cross posted to other sites?

Yes! Events may be cross posted to other related sites, BUT only by the organizer of the event or by someone with the express permission to do so by the event organizer.

Membership

Learn more about being a member.

How do I become a member?

Simply go to our new member registration page & enter the requested information.

After registration is complete, login to your account using one of the many login links throughout the website or by using the login page. □

After you login to the site, you will automatically be directed to your personal account page where you can optionally create your member profile and optionally modify other areas of your account.. □

Be sure to configure your email notifications so that you will be notified about coming events in your desired list of activity categories.

How do I cancel my membership?

Visit your Account Page and select the membership deactivation link. Once you have deactivated your membership, the account will be deactivated for a period of one year and subsequently removed from the Time Outdoors database.□

To reactivate your account, you will have to submit a request to the Time Outdoors staff to have the account reactivated. Accounts that have been inactive for more than one year will not be eligible for reactivation. In this instance, a new membership will have to be created.

How do I find out about coming activities?

After registering as a member you'll have the ability to subscribe to receive email notifications about coming events you're interested in. The email notifications will contain the date, the event description, organizer contact email address and a link that will connect to further details about the event. After you connect to the event details page you can sign up to attend and see who else will be attending.

How much personal information do I have to disclose?

All required information will be gathered when you first register and includes the following: □

- Full Name (Not displayed to other members)□
- Alias (Will be displayed to other members)□
- Date of birth□
- Valid email address (Used for login)□
- City and Zip code□
- Home Region (Used for the email notification of events)□

Email addresses must be entered correctly the first time. Changes to the primary email address must be requested and will be performed by the Time Outdoors Staff.□

Other information may be added via the members personal profile. Visit your Account Page to edit your profile

Is my personal information safe?

The easy answer to this question is that no public site is completely safe from the prying eyes of hackers and tech geeks with nothing better to do with their time.

At the Time Outdoors, we've taken the issues of privacy and security very seriously. Nothing is ever fool-proof but every extra step taken is a step in the right direction.

So what extra steps has the Time Outdoors taken to protect your personal information?

- All members are required to sign into the website before accessing any member's profile
- A single signon system is used throughout the site which protects your cross-referenced member information between each section of the site
- We have implemented a strategy to make it increasingly difficult to spider our website by restricting access
- Members may choose to have their email address visible or hidden from their personal profile

If there is ever a question or concern pertaining to this topic, please address it in the form of a question within our Knowledge Base. The answers to your question may be of particular use to other members.

Is personal information provided to third parties?

A resounding no! We will not intentionally release any personal information to third parties.

Please visit the Time Outdoors Legal section to review our Privacy Policy and Terms of Use Policy. Please take the time to review all of our policies.

Is there a trial membership?

For Personal Memberships, no Trial Membership is necessary as these memberships are 100% FREE to all regular members.

For Commercial Members? Yes... For a limited time new Commercial Organizer Members can sign up for a full access '1 Year Trial Membership' that will allow the member the ability to organize and attend an unlimited number of commercial events for the duration of the trial membership.

If the Commercial Organizer member chooses to become a paying member of the Time Outdoors during their trial membership, the member can simply upgrade their account by paying the regular annual membership fee. Upgrading or renewing memberships can be done from the members (My Account) page. If the member upgrades from the Trial Membership, the new annual membership will not begin until the Trial Period is over... That's Right! Members will get to keep their remaining time on their trial membership.□

Although many of the events are organized by other site members and require no fee to attend, members attending the event will be responsible for paying their own way for meals and other individual costs as required by the event. □

The Commercial Trial Membership will activate the day of member registration and will remain effective for an entire 12 Months. The member account, if not upgraded, will expire approximately 1 year following registration. The member will receive two reminder emails prior to the members account expiration or renewal date.□

After any account has expired, the member will still be able to access the site using their login information but will no longer have access to the Events Board. Members will still be able to access other site sections which include the message board, photo gallery and site news and information.

Is this a singles club?

No... We are not a singles or dating club! Although many of our members are single the focus of the Time Outdoors is on our outdoor events and activities. All members single, married or otherwise are welcome to join and participate. Those members joining with the sole agenda of making dates is highly discouraged. On the other hand romantic connections made between our members is not discouraged.

What are the types of Memberships?

At the Time Outdoors, we currently offer two types of memberships. The Personal membership and the Commercial Membership. Underneath the layer of these two membership types, we have several tiered variations that are applied to members by the Time Outdoors staff.□

Lets talk about the membership types:□

What is the Time Outdoors?

The Time Outdoors is a web-based community for outdoor enthusiasts. Our custom, user-friendly Web site enables its members to easily create and participate in a diverse range of exciting outdoor events. The Time Outdoors has no political agenda or mandatory meetings and it's free to join. Because the website and its events are organized by regular members, most events are generally free to attend.

What kinds of activities are offered?

We depend on our members to create and organize events. Events will typically include hiking, rollerblading, bicycling, river rafting, skiing, snowboarding, kayaking, rock climbing, backpacking, beach, fitness and nature walks, camping, etc. Occasionally members will organize team building and community activities such as beach & trail maintenance projects or even something more of a social nature like BBQs.

If a member has an idea for an event in which there is no event category available, a request can be made to the Time Outdoors staff or directly to the webmaster.

Why should I join?

As a member you can participate in any activity that you're familiar with like hiking, skiing, snowboarding, rollerblading or try something more challenging like river rafting, mountain biking, or rock climbing. It's a great way to meet other outdoor-minded people, get some fresh air, & exercise.

Netiquette

The online code. Keeping the Time Outdoors fun and comfortable for everyone.

The core rules of Netiquette

I won't attempt to reinvent the wheel as there are many websites that have made available general netiquette outlines.

If you are new to using online or community based websites, please take some time to learn the do's and don'ts and general guidelines of online interaction between yourself and other members.

Provided are a few links as Netiquette resources.

Using the Website

Using PayPal

One of the most useful new features on the Time Outdoors is the ability for our event organizers to receive event fees through their PayPal accounts.

Before you start receiving money for your organized events, you must already have a PayPal account. If you have not already set up your personal Paypal account, you may setup your "FREE" personal paypal account at <http://www.paypal.com>. Once you've created your Paypal account, creating your fee based events is very simple.

We have added a couple payment options to assist the organizer with payment flexibility. While creating a new event, you will be asked whether your event is "FREE", "FEE-DIRECT" or "FEE-PAYPAL". To create your fee based event using PayPal, select the the payment option labeled "FEE-PAYPAL" from the pull-down menu.

FEE-PAYPAL

Selecting this payment option will add a PayPal payment button to the event that will allow member participants to signup and pay to attend your new FEE based event. Members who signup will be placed on the event RSVP list automatically. When the participant is ready to confirm the RSVP, they will simply select the button labeled "Confirm RSVP" from the event details page. The participant will then be directed to PayPal where the event payment can be submitted. Once the member has paid for the event they are returned to the event details page where their RSVP is finally confirmed.

Receive Payment By:

In the indicated date field, enter the date that event payments must be received. Once the payment date has arrived, the event will be closed for new RSVP's. If a member is already on the event RSVP list but did not pay the event fee to confirm the RSVP, they will not be able to complete the PayPal transaction. The organizer or co-organizer may extend the payment date by editing the event. □

As the event organizer, you may check the payment status of your event participants by using the RSVP manager on your event control panel. The payment indicator will show whether or not the participant has submitted payment.□

If you are the owner of the PayPal account used for the event, be sure to monitor and save your Paypal receipts confirming payments made and payments received.□

Event participants should save their Paypal receipts as further payment verification.□

Using the Time Outdoors Paypal services is very simple but you should be familiar with and understand the payment options, explained above, before creating your first fee based event. □

If at anytime there are questions or concerns about his topic, please address your questions in the Knowledge Base so that others may benefit from the answers.

What's the difference between the buddy list on the message board and the friends list on the calendar?□

PT

Unfortunately, these are two (2) separate features that I would very much like to combine in the near future. Here are the differences between the features.□

The Buddy List:

The buddy list is a feature of the Message Board only. □

The buddy list is used to keep track of the friends you have made on the Time Outdoors Message Board. By going to the "Who's Online" page, you'll be able to see which of your friends are currently online, and be able to send them a private message. Adding people to your buddy list also allows you to send private messages to multiple message board members at the same time. You may add any member of the forums to your buddy list by clicking this button in a member's posts.

Ignore lists are used for those people who's messages you wish not to read. By adding someone to your ignore list, those messages posted by these individuals will be hidden when you read a thread.□

The Friends List:

The buddy list is a feature of the Calendar only.□

The friends list began as an experiment and has stuck around for awhile. The intention is to combine the two features in the future. The original purpose of the experiment was to come up with a way for organizers to add friends to their published events before the event was made available to other Time Outdoors members. Some trips fill up faster than others so this feature ensured that your dearest, closest outdoor friends had a place on the trip before it was too late.□

Hope this explanation is helpful.[]

Which web browsers are supported?

During the site development, three (3) browsers were used to test the usability and format to ensure the best possible display using the latest Internet browsing technologies. []

Browsers successfully tested include the following:[]

- []
- []
- Microsoft Internet Explorer 6.0 and higher[]
- []
- []
- Netscape Navigator 7.1 and higher[]
- []
- []
- Mozilla FireFox 0.9.3[]
- []
- []
- Legacy browsers prior to the above version "will not" be supported[]

Using any other browser besides those specified will certainly result in a distorted display or representation of the site. In the situation that a user or member is utilizing an outdated Internet Browser, our suggestion is to upgrade to one of the recommended browsers or they simply will not be able to enjoy the site.[]

We apologize for the inconvenience to those who are unable to upgrade beyond an unsupported browser.[]

The Time Outdoors website was constructed from the ground up using the PHP scripting language, javascript, and perl with a MySQL database on the backend.

Why should I create a profile?

Most online communities, where members communicate with each other anonymously, is ok as members in these communities are not likely to ever meet one another.[]

The Time Outdoors is a community of active and adventurous members who use this site to locate other like minded members and challenging activities in which to participate.

Creating an accurate and honest profile communicates to other members important information about our character, skills, strengths, interests, and goals.

Profiles give the Event Organizers insight into the members who sign up to participate in their events.

Profiles give other event participants an opportunity to learn more about a member, their interests and capabilities.

There is no need to add anything of a truly personal nature but please do share with the community what brought you to the Time Outdoors and what you expect to get out of it.

Events Board

Questions and answers related to the Events Board

Can I collect money for my events?

Yes! You may collect a fee for the events you create provided the fee is to cover your own personal costs related to the event. Members may use our PayPal integration to collect money for their events.

See the related article: Using PayPal

Events created by regular members that require a fee will be not-for-profit.

Commercial Memberships are available for the Professional Event Organizer. A commercial membership will allow you to create profit generating events.

How do I add an Event?

Add an Event

We've tried to make the process of adding new events to the events board as easy as possible while including the kind of features necessary to allow you, the Event Organizer, to successfully and conveniently manage your events.

Getting Started

If you are a first time Event Organizer, it is encouraged that you review the articles related to Organizing an event and understanding your responsibilities as a good Event leader and Organizer.

As a registered (non-commercial) member of the Time Outdoors, you may organize as many events in any related categories as you'd like.

Locate a link from one of the navigation menus labeled as [Create Event]. You will be directed to the event creation wizard where the process begins. Creating an Event is a six step process that will guide you through the creating your new event. Required Information items for the Event are clearly marked.

There are also optional items of requested information, some of which require additional explanation. While creating an event, you may see the  help icon located on the page. If you hold your mouse pointer over the icon, a brief help description will be displayed. These help messages are commonly referred to as tooltips.

As you progress through the event wizard, you will have the ability to preview the appearance of your event by selecting the preview button. While creating your event, you may also save your work at any time by selecting the Save button. The saved event will be added to your Event Control Panel and may be accessed by clicking the edit icon. The Preview and Save buttons are located on every page of the event wizard.

After the event wizard has collected all of the details of your event, you will be presented with four (3) Options before the event is submitted for approval. The options include:□

(Make changes to event) (Save as draft event) (Publish to Events Board)□

Make changes to event - If there are changes to be made to the event before it is published to the calendar, select this link to make any required changes to your event.

Save changes to event / Save events as draft - The "Save changes to event" option works in two ways. If the event is a new event, the event can be saved as a draft where it can be edited freely before it is published to the Events Board. Once the event is published and approved, selecting this option will allow you to create a copy or draft of the event for future use.

Publish to events board - Once you are satisfied with the created event, select the Publish Event option to add the event to the Events Board. If your event requires approval from Time Outdoors staff members, your event will remain in a "Pending" status until it has been approved. If changes are made to an existing active event and a new "Personal Message" is added to the message board thread, select this option to ensure that your new message is added appropriately to the event message thread.

New events will be reviewed for approval within 24 hours of submission. If your event is not approved within this time frame you may expect to be contacted by a staff member. If within 48 hours of submission your event has not been approved and you have not been contacted by staff member, a problem may have resulted. At this point feel free to contact the staff members for assistance.

If there are ever any question or concerns related to "Adding Events", Ask your question within the Time Outdoors Knowledge Base. Your question will be addressed promptly and accurately.

How do I remove my RSVP from an event?

Go to your Event Control Panel by selecting the My Events Link. The default view of your events control panel will show the events you have signed up to attend. Select the  icon to remove your name from the associated event.

My Events Control Panel?

The events board control panel is the tool members will use to manage and organize their events. Below is a list of ways that the control panel assists the member.

- Keep track of the events you are signed up to participate □
- Manage the events you are organizing □
- Manage RSVP lists to your organized events □
- Track members who have paid or pending payment □
- Send emails to participants on your RSVP list □
- Add reports to the events you organize □
- Add reviews to the events you have participated □
- Add Photo Galleries to the events you have organized □
- Save your past events as drafts and use them again for future events □

We hope that this small tutorial may answer any of your questions about how to your control panel. If at any time there is a question about a feature, please be sure to address your question here in the Time Outdoors Knowledge Base.

What is the Events Board

Our custom Events Board is where members can view all coming and past outdoor events. The events board is a members only feature of the web site which means you will have to be logged into the site to view details of any event. Membership is FREE and its easy to register.□

From the front page of the events board you will see a list of featured coming and past events. There are several features to the Events Board which include the following:□

- Personal Events Control Panel □
- Full featured RSVP □
- Easily signup to attend events □
- PayPal integration for pay events * □
- Save Event Draft for later use * □
- Events Creation Wizard * □
- Personal event designs * □
- Set multiple organizers for each event *□

There will soon be help documents and tutorials available for download. These tutorials will further explain use of the Events Board in a step-by-step fashion. □

Using the Events Board is very simple and we encourage all members to experiment and get to know the features. As always, if at any time you are uncertain about how something works, simply send an email to the webmaster, post a question to the Knowledge Base or to the message board and we'll be happy to steer you in the right direction. □

Using PayPal for Events

Explanations and descriptions of how Paypal is used on the Time Outdoors to collect fees for events.

What is PayPal?

PayPal, owned by eBay, is a global online payment system. PayPal is a convenient, easy-to-use, and secure way for individuals and businesses to send and receive money online for goods, services, charitable donations, and so forth. It's also a full-service operation that provides front-end and back-end solutions to increase growth and revenue for merchants. □

Here at the Time Outdoors, we've integrated this online payment method so that our members can organize fee based events. This allows the organizing member to recover any out of pocket expenses for organizing the event. PayPal also offers a super convenient method of paying for these events online without having to break a sweat. Using Paypal, a member can pay an event fee directly from their personal, premier, or business account while choosing from a number of payment methods including credit cards and echecks. □

If you've never opened a Paypal account or used their services then its time to go check them out and see how easy and secure it is to transfer money.

Message Board

Questions and answers related to the Message Board

Using the message board

The Message Board used on the Time Outdoors is a third party application that has been adapted for use with our website.□

There are many features to the Message Board. You may communicate with other members both publicly and privately and if you are the organizer of an event, you may add a message thread when creating the event. Creating a message thread for your event will add a link to the details of your event. By selecting this message thread link, members will be taken to the thread automatically where they can read and or post messages related to the event.□

If you have questions about how to use the Message Board, please visit the FAQs section. Many of your questions regarding the features of the gallery will be answered here.□

If there are any questions that are not answered in the FAQs section, please feel free to post an email to the webmaster, or ask a question within the Knowledge Base or Message Board.

Organizing Trips & Events

Tips & how-to's to organizing trips & events and on how to be a succesful event organizer.

What is a Trusted Organizer?

Managing the Time Outdoors website can be a full-time job sometimes. One of the ways we have eliminated a few admin tasks is by allowing select members to approve their own trips to the Events Board.[]

All of the trips added to the Events Board by our regular members will have to be reviewed and approved by the TOC website admins. This can be a time consuming task and may create delays in getting the trip approved.[]

So, What is a 'Trusted Organizer'?

A Trusted Organizer is a member who is granted special privileges to automatically approval their own trips added to the Events Board. Any member who has successfully led four (4) or more trips may request the Trusted Organizer access.

What are the member requirements for Trusted Organizer?

Not all member requests for increased access will granted. A member has a better chance of gaining Trusted Organizer access if:

- The member has accurately completed their profile
- They have successfully led four (4) or more trips
- The member has received no negative feedback from other members or organizers
- The website admin maintains direct contact information for all members requesting increased access

Send all requests for Trusted Organizer access to webmaster@time-outdoors.com

Who can organize trips or events?

Any member of the Time Outdoors may organize a trip or event. As the Time Outdoors is a member driven site, it is the members who provide the majority of the trips listed on our Events Board.

We encourage all members who have the initiative to organize and lead trips and events. Please plan and organize as it meets your particular schedules and capabilities.

If you have special or unique outdoor skills, share them with others by organizing beginner events or clinics.

If you're ready for an adrenaline rush you can organize events for the intermediate or expert level of experience so that you get the full physical benefit of your trips.

Take a leap and organize a trip. Don't worry about making mistakes while planning your trips on the site. If you have questions don't be shy! There will always be someone to provide you with helpful answers that will get your trip successfully posted to the calendar.

Regular members who post trips to the Events Board will need their trip details and write-up approved by a Site or Trip Admin.

Members may also request 'Trusted Organizer' access from the webmaster. See the Article on 'Trusted Organizers' for more details.[]

I'm not just the webmaster of the Time Outdoors, I'm also a trip organizing member.

How do I volunteer?

The Time Outdoors is a member operated website. Everything from creating events to managing this very Knowledge Base Article is maintained by volunteers. As the webmaster, I too am a member and volunteer of the website.[]

In order for any website community to be successful, it is necessary to maintain the site by keeping the content current, correct and interesting.[]

So what kind of volunteer positions are available. There are many that include the following:

- Message Board Moderators
- Trusted Event Organizers
- Event Board Moderators
- Newsletter Authors and Regional Editors
- Knowledge Base Authors and Moderators
- News & Article Authors and Editors
- PHP/MySQL webmasters

Volunteer opportunities are by no means limited to the above list. If anyone is interested in becoming a volunteer and has a unique skill that may benefit the Time Outdoors site, please shoot us an email at volunteers@time-outdoors.com and tell us a little about yourself and how you'd like to contribute to the community.
